

87C. Costs

(1) Where—

- (a) the court has made an order under section 29 of the Ordinance summoning a person before it and it appears to the court that the summoning was made necessary because information had been unjustifiably refused by such person; or
- (b) the court makes an order that a person delivers up property to the Official Receiver or trustee or to discharge a debt due to the bankrupt, the court may order that the costs of the proceedings be paid by that person.

- (2) Where a person in respect of whom an order has been made under section 29 of the Ordinance co-operates fully with the Official Receiver or trustee in providing the necessary information, the court may order that that person be paid, out of the bankrupt's estate, the reasonable costs incurred by him in providing such information.
